The Inch View

Welcome

Inchview Hotel has been sympathetically restored to provide a relaxing home from home venue where our local community and visitors alike may experience a superior level of service and accommodation with traditional comfort and luxurious individuality.

The past eighteen months have been a labour of love restoring the dignity and fabric of this wonderful building. Much of the work could not have been achieved so early in the project without the overwhelming support of our customers who continue to trust us with their most important events and visiting family and friends.

We are also proud to host many local organisations including: Art, Journal, Rotary, Round Table, Speakers and Whist clubs; and we thank them for their continuing support.

This is the first of our newsletters to keep you better informed about life here at Inchview Hotel.

We hope you enjoy reading about our newly refurbished facilities; the progress of our staff training programme; the interests of and stories from our regular visitors; sharing with you their special occasions and our forthcoming events.

“It is always our intention to place the emphasis on impeccable, traditional standards in an atmosphere of elegance, friendship and warmth; the hallmark of your stay at Inchview Hotel.”

Inchview People

We have seventeen members of staff and in this first edition we introduce you to the senior Front-of-House team: Rhona Wardrop, Karen Wallace and Shirley McFall. All experienced and highly motivated individuals who have already completed their ServeWisePlus course achieving the On-Licence Certificate awarded by the Scottish Qualifications Authority. Well done ladies!

Special points of interest:

Terrace Bar & Bistro specials board Finger Feasts now available

Links Brasserie new season dishes now available

Mr. Tennents & Ms Stella Artois are now in the building...

Inside Inchview

Inchview Hotel offers twelve ensuite bedrooms and four versatile public venues: Links Brasserie, Douglas Private Dining Room, Somerville Function Suite and the Terrace Bar & Bistro. The ideal location for family and local community celebrations, business conferences and weddings.

The property extends over three floors and benefits externally from a separate beer patio and private parking within the grounds.

We are presently in discussion with Fife Council whom we have asked to assist with our plans to incorporate numbers 65 & 67 Kinghorn into the Inchview Hotel.

On completion this will provide an additional 4 bedrooms two of which will be on the ground floor and accessible to our less able visitors; a guest lounge/ breakfast room; Brasserie extension; and beautiful walled gardens to the rear.

We shall keep you posted on our progress on this and other key projects:

- new Georgian window frames & wrought iron plant holders
- new ladies & gents toilets with disabled facilities
- new internal & external signage

Terrace Bar & Bistro

Mr. Tennents & Ms Stella

Artois have arrived back in the building after a reported absence of six years. A much welcomed return to two of the most popular beverages in Scotland. We still stock PPL bottles but for the long suffering exponent of draught these additions could not come soon enough!

Picture of hot spot.

Links Brasserie

Head Chef Kevin McFall is fast approaching 40 yet his culinary skills and acuity in presenting mouthwatering menus remains undiminished. Astonishing really!

All our menus include signature dishes with updates introduced every four weeks ensuring regular guests can enjoy the finest in local and Scottish seasonal produce.

Special Events

Inchview Hotel was proud to host Anne Marie & Juden Berg celebrating 100 years between them on Saturday 25th February 2006. We believe the split is equal but Juden, ever the gentleman says not!

120 family & friends joined them at the hotel which they booked on an 24 hour exclusive use basis and a fabulous time was had by all. We are led to believe the BA stand at Edinburgh Airport was closed for the night and well...most of the next day too! Music & entertainment was provided by James Stuart and Gary Copeland supporting an incredibly talented cast of singers whose years of practice in front of the mirror with a hairbrush finally paid off. We saw Tammy Wynette, we heard Patsy Cline we gave an ovation to Jeannie C. Riley and Dean Martin. A truly memorable evening for two wonderful people...

Many Happy Returns

Personal Spotlight

Regulars are the backbone of any bar. They entertain us on a winters night and engage our visitors at the height of the season. In the spotlight this issue we have three wonderful friends without whom Inchview would be simply bereft. Our trains would not run and tides would not turn if our three 'boys', as they are affectionately known, did not keep us informed of both

It goes without saying age is a relative thing! Their names have been changed to protect their identities: Brad, Keanu & Tom. See if you can spot which one is which; (from left to right)

Outside Inchview

“From the luxury of your sea facing room you can watch the yachts sail by as the sun sets on this stunning stretch of coastline”

Inchview Hotel has spectacular views from its rooms overlooking the Links and across the Firth of Forth to Edinburgh.

It was wonderful to see families playing together, during the recent snowfall and it fair lifted the spirits after the long dark nights of Winter.

Yet Spring is around the corner and Burntisland is starting to bloom with crocus and daffodils lifting the earth; the breaking ground on new housing developments and plans for a regenerated high street. What a wonderful time to be associated with the Royal Burgh. Why not try one of the Rotary Rambles and see it all for yourself. Check out our notice board for details.

The Last Word

Inchview versus Regulars at the Bowlplex, Halbeath.

After a busy December and January we needed a break but our regulars were having none of it so we took them with us on Sunday, 5th February 2006.

We fought it out over 5 lanes... well 8 lanes and the food court if you count the bad shots! Nevertheless, what we lacked in experience we made up for in style and nerve; and some players showed a lot of nerve.

A terrific night was had by all and we look forward to payback; well wouldn't you with that score?

Some of us just make better dancers!
